Short Description

Artist's note: "Originally a t-shirt design. First my plan was to make the crescent moon one solid object with different patterns running on its surface. However, this idea kept bothering me and as always, if something bothers me about an artwork, to me it is a sign I need to change something. So instead, I tried sketching the wolf laying on a crescent-shaped wooden "frame" with flowers tangled all over it. The bothersome feeling in my chest disappeared right away and I knew I should proceed with this idea instead."
